FOREWORD

Don't ask me why—but every book must have a FOREWORD. Perhaps the best reason is that it gives the editor a chance to tell of the tears and work that went into the production of your 1949 ARTEMISIA. However, we offer no apologies and no complaints. If you accept it and enjoy it, we will consider our work well done . . . The pride which we have all felt in Nevada was increased this year with the performance of our football team, our academic record, and the well-rounded social life. Within these covers we have portrayed the highlights of each which we hope will bring back many happy days to you in years to come.

DR. E. M. BEESLEY

DEDICATION

TO DR. EDWARD MAURRICE BEESLEY, for his unswerving devotion and loyalty to the University of Nevada, we humbly dedicate this 1949 ARTEMISIA. In his position as Chairman of the Department of Mathematics and member of the Board of Athletic Control, he has given counsel, inspiration and sympathetic understanding to countless students. His refusal of larger universities with higher salaries have proved his faith in the U. of N. . . . It is in his spirit of friendly guidance, cheerful giving, and dedication to service that we see reflected the spiritual growth of Nevada during the past 75 years.

GOVERNOR VAIL PITTMAN

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

The welfare of the University of Nevada has always been very close to the hearts of our citizens. They have given generously of money and time to bring the institution to its present excellent condition . . .

Possibly no other investment made by the State has returned greater dividends. Graduates of our outstanding mining school have contributed greatly to the recovery of our mineral wealth, our agricultural students have carried the benefits of science to our farms, and the channels of business and professional life have profited by the inclusion of University graduates . . . The advantages that the State receives are not all economic and commercial. A complete education must give to its possessor an understanding of the past, its relation to the present, and a probable correlation with the future. Today the times demand such intelligent understanding by men in positions of responsibility . . . The coming decades will present very grave problems to the men and women who must chart and direct the course of our country. The materialistic wealth of the nation will not be as important as the considered judgment that is required for such direction. Although higher education is not a guarantee of sound judgment, it is the forcing ground and preparatory field wherein such judgment may be sharpened and enhanced. The percentage of university trained persons in positions of leadership in all fields is steadily increasing and there is no reason to anticipate a reversal of trend . . . It should not be expected, however, that positions of responsibility and trust will seek out the graduate. Education, like any other tool, is only valuable when used, and that use should not be confined to the limits of a specific profession or trade. The interests of intellectually mature persons are broad enough to include an active participation in the public affairs of the community and State, and I most definitely commend such participation to the students of our University . . . The degree of control of the conditions under which you will live will be determined largely by the degree of your interest in the affairs and concerns that will dictate such conditions. I have the utmost faith that the future of our State and Country is in excellent and capable hands.

VAIL PITTMAN, Governor

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The school year 1948-49 will long be remembered by students, faculty, alumni and friends of the University of Nevada as a year of victory on the athletic field. With results equally decisive, although less spectacular, progress has been made toward educational goals. In the classroom as on the football field the dynamics of war have been transferred to the dynamics of peace. Never have students been so sincere and so enthusiastic in their striving toward the perfecting of their characters and personalities through the processes of education as they have in these post-war years. Despite the temporary confusion brought on by the arrival of veterans and unprecedented enrollments in class and laboratory, scholastic standards have been advanced, student activities have been stabilized and an encouraging degree of "purposeful living" has been achieved by individuals and groups of faculty and student body . . . In a spirit of sharing with others in the pride of these accomplishments, this pictorial record of the school year is presented. Along with the joy of present achievement, let us in humility turn our faces toward the tasks of the future. Let all sons and daughters of the University never forget that you are also members of ever-larger groups representing the free peoples of state, nation and world . . . Our way of thinking and living must be proved to be the true path to security, brotherhood, peace and happiness. The cry of hungry hearts the world over is for leadership along that path. To match that challenge is the destiny of your alma mater—this year and the next, and every year of its existence . . . All of us, faculty, students and alumni, express to the editor, manager and contributors our sincere thanks for the 1949 Artemisia in its excellence so representative of the progress of the University which we love and serve.

DR. JOHN O. MOSELEY

JOHN O. MOSELEY, President

CHAIRMAN SILAS ROSS

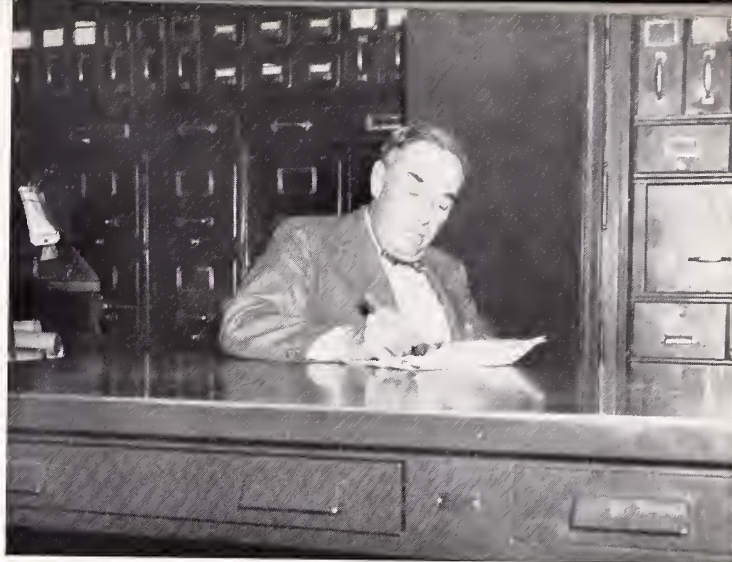

BOARD OF REGENTS

The University of Nevada's Board of Regents, with Silas E. Ross continuing as chairman of the Board, faced the many complex problems of a rapidly expanding University with a conscientious and sympathetic determination. Foremost among the problems was the matter of financing the University for the next two years. A tentative budget of approximately two and one quarter million dollars was deemed the minimum amount necessary to keep educational standards at their present level.

COMPTROLLER, CHARLES H. GORMAN

The past year has seen the administration concerned chiefly with the problems of finding adequate classroom and living space for an enrollment of over seventeen hundred students. A dining hall director was appointed in an attempt to give the students better meal service. A Science Building, housing the biological laboratories is in the last stages of planning. Tentative plans call for its erection at the lower end of the campus, near the temporary English buildings. Two buildings have been purchased from the Reno Army Air Base and are to be moved to the north end of the campus above the athletic field as men's dormitories.

REGISTRAR, JEANETTE C. RHODES

SECRETARY TO PRESIDENT, ALICE TERRY

STUDENT

PRESIDENT REX JEMISON

A. S. U. N.

1948-1949 was another very busy and very active year for the Associated Students of the University of Nevada, with enrollment again nearing seventeen hundred students during both semesters. Rex Jemison served as president, Lorraine Houghton as vice-president, and Shirley Keller as secretary. John Michael continued to hold the position of head yell leader with Sinclair Melner and Jim Morrison as assistants. Pat O'Brien was appointed assembly chairman and Mark Bray was in charge of the Homecoming rally. The Executive Committee, which handles all business prior to its appearance before the Senate, was composed of Rex Jemison, Lorraine Houghton, Joe Morita, Bob White and Helen Montero . . . The Wolves Frolic, under the direction of Bob Creveling, was revived during the Homecoming week-end and proved to be one of the social highlights of the season . . . The Association also backed, wholeheartedly, the drive for salary increases for the University of Nevada faculty. Rex Jemison and Bill Kornmayer made a special trip to Carson City and appeared before the Nevada Legislature in this matter . . . President Jemison also attended the Pacific Coast Student Body Presidents' Association at Sun Valley, Idaho, early during the second semester.

A. W. S.

PRESIDENT LORRAINE HOUGHTON

With Lorraine Houghton as president, Mary Zorzakas as vice-president and Jean Nash as secretary and treasurer, the Associated Women Students of the University of Nevada completed another busy year. Several new organizational changes were put into effect, among which was the new amendment by which the president of the Association is elected by the women of the campus as a whole, rather than by the previous rotational system. A governing council, with representatives from all the women's groups, was also established. Among the social events of the year sponsored by the A. W. S. were two fashion shows, a party for all new girls entering school at the beginning of the second semester, and a bean feed for all campus women.

GENE MASTROIANNI, Graduate Manager

GRADUATE MANAGER

With Gene Mastroianni as Graduate Manager, Jim McNabney as assistant, and Erma Capurro as Secretary, the office of the Graduate Manager completed the most outstanding year in the history of the campus. Ticket receipts from the football games were the largest in the school's history; the largest crowd ever to gather in Mackay Stadium attended the Homecoming game; and card stunts were expanded to include two out-of-town games, at St. Mary's and at Santa Clara. Bleachers for the home games were obtained from the local high school and the baseball club.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

With the largest number of Alumni in the history of the University of Nevada returning to the campus during the Homecoming week-end, the Alumni Association greatly extended its activities during the year. The Alumni Directory, unpublished since 1938, has been completed and is awaiting printing at the earliest possible date. A Chapter of Nevada Alumni is being formed in the San Francisco area and should be functioning as an active unit within the next year. Chosen to lead the Alumni Association in its most active year were Malcolm S. "Bill" Blakely, '32, and Walter States, '38, with Rex Daniels continuing as Alumni Director. Due to the increase in membership, the annual banquet was cancelled. A general get-together, held in lieu of the banquet, however, climaxed the busiest year since the Association has been founded.

Returning to their second year at the University of Nevada, last year's Frosh buckled down to a year full of work, activities and fun. With the election of Coe Swobe, Sigma Nu, as Sophomore Class Manager, the entire class spread out all over the hill—joined clubs, participated in athletics, and added their energy to the general success of the whole school year. Members of the Sophomore committee which piloted the class throughout the year, included Hal Fields, John McEachern, Richard Lenzora, Dee Spradling, Gloria Eddy, Drake Delanoy, Joan Powell, Ann Holt, Ted Klimaszewski, Barry Brooks and George Schwarz. Eyer Boies was elected president of the Aggie Club and Helen Keddie was named queen of the annual Military Ball. In April the Freshmen and the Sophomores got together and held a dance, which was semi-formal, at the Mapes Hotel. With one-half of their college career over, the Sophs look forward to the completion of the next two years as Juniors and Seniors.

The Freshman class began their first year on the Hill with a rousing start. Led by Wayne "Ozzie" Osborne, Alpha Tau Omega, as class manager, the class began their activities. Committee members Bill Raphael, Doug Douglas, Lloyd Baker, Reilly Jensen, John Cowley, Don Aiken, Elaine Powell, Joan Melner, Maxine Brockett and Alice Shelly maintained a smooth running organization. annual painting of the "N" on Peavine Mountain took place during the last part of April. Elaine Powell, Gamma Phi Beta, after an extensive campaign was the Homecoming Sweetheart, chosen by the male vote on the campus. The Freshman Class combined forces with the Sophomores for a semi-formal dance at the Hotel Mapes in April. With the dance as the last planned activity of the year, the Frosh prepared themselves for the final obstacle before they would return for their last year as underclassmen. An even brighter and more successful future awaits their return in the fall.

ASSOCIATIONS

A black and white photograph of a jewelry display card. The card is dark with a light-colored, possibly textured, background. Various pieces of jewelry are arranged on the card. At the top left is a diamond-shaped pendant with a cross-like design. To its right is a cross-shaped pendant with a chain. Further right is a circular pendant with a cross-like design and a chain. In the center is a cross-shaped pendant. To the left of the center is a circular pendant with a cross-like design and a chain. To the right of the center is a circular pendant with a cross-like design and a chain. At the bottom left is a circular pendant with a cross-like design and a chain. At the bottom center is a diamond-shaped pendant with a cross-like design and a chain. At the bottom right is a cross-shaped pendant with a chain.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

JOHN FOLEY, President

The Interfraternity Council, with John Foley as president, met once a week this year to deal with the numerous and complicated problems that were forever arising. The Council held a bean feed early in the spring and presented trophies to inter-mural winners as well as the Kinnear Trophy. Two new fraternities, Delta Sigma Phi and Tau Kappa Epsilon, were given permission to establish houses on the campus.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

This year the University of Nevada Panhellenic Association succeeded in working more closely with the rules set forth by the National Panhellenic Council. With Bebe George Munn as president and Elaine Mobley, dean of women, as adviser, the association unified rushing rules and procedures and tried to promote good feeling among the four sororities on the hill.

Noble is an ATO, and well he knows his noble state—

Hairy-chested he must be or else he simply fails to rate.

Daring, dashing, bold and brave, with brawn
and brains and nerves of steel—

Mindful of each gentle lady's pitiful appeal.

These are but a sample of the marks of men of ATO;

Each and every one of them you'll find, no matter where you go.

Still, if you reside in Eden, or are damned in hell below,

Men were monkeys long ago, and hairy-chested
too, we know.

Long ago and far away
 Three stars stopped on earth to stay.
 When they left, the following day,
 Each one took a gift away:
 Oh, the first had some laughter from out of Paree;
 From the heart of Vienna the second brought charm;
 While the third had a song from the shores of Capri.
 Then they mingled their gifts with great pride
 and with care,
 The result is the pin that the Tri-Deltas wear.

There's a song of Lambda Chi that has lingered
through the years;

Like an old opera tune, it is beating in my ears:
A Lambda Chi escaped the day that Custer
died;

The day that Egypt fell a Lambda Chi survived.
Long ago a Lambda Chi set the atom free;

That's the day Atlantis sank beneath the sea.

A Lambda Chi once taught a Little Corporal bold

All that the Little Corporal's vacant head could hold.

And of what, and why, and where, and why did you come? I asked a Gamma Phi.

Far upon Parnassus' heights, where the carefree
Muses often sing,

There the Gamma Phis first heard the echoes of their praises ring.

Once a nightingale was singing high up in a
linden tree,

Where the golden-sanded rivers run to seek a friendly sea,

When the fairest winds Aeolis had caught up
the silver song.

Oh, they fled in haste o'er many lands, and
after searching long,

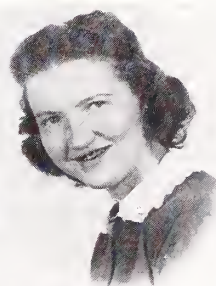

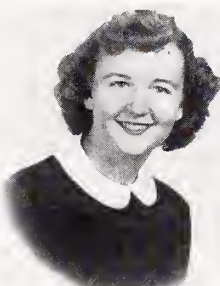

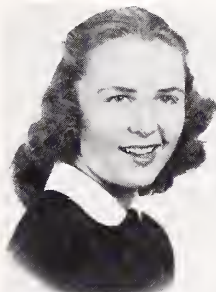

A maid (in truth, more like a star from out the eastern sky) they found.

At her side, but not without a sigh, they sat their priceless treasure down.

The most perplexing problem in physics—optical or quantum
 Was but an hour's play for the brilliant Phi Sig son;
 The deepest thought historical, the greatest speech rhetorical,
 Erupted like Vesuvius from the Phi Sig chosen one;
 A freshman lad then came one day and this is what he had to say:
 'Tis true that I respect the intellect that you display,
 And heed the cosmic questions which you brainships analyze;
 But tell me this, you Phi Sigs wise: What happens when a spider dies?
 And soon these mighty sages with their wisdom of the ages
 Took up a pick and shovel and went to work at mucker's wages.

A kite, me thinks I see, above the land of Arundel,
 And rash it is to dare trespass the land in which I dwell,
 The north wind said one day, and then he blew
 a jolting blast.
 His face turned red, he coughed and wheezed sneezed until at last
 He called upon the other winds, the south and east and west,
 Who ripped the heavens up and down without a minutes' rest.
 That night was fierce, the next day worse; its night was far from mild,
 And every creature looked with awe upon a
 God gone wild.
 But when the flaming morning sun was rising
 in the sky
 The Theta kite, still bright, still true, was floating sure and high.

In poems and plays and songs and lays
 The greatest wrote of SAE:
 For Marlowe wrote of Tamerlane,
 And well the work deserves its praise;
 Yet the plays he wrote of SAE
 In truth, immortalized his name.
 And Byron wrote of vanished days,
 Of men and lands that once were free;
 But the surest right he has to fame
 Unfolds the tale of SAE.

A goddess shot a golden arrow and saw not where it fell;

She had no time to search for it, so she cast a
magic spell:

The one who finds my golden arrow shall wear
it if she choose;

But if she wears my golden arrow, a goddess
she must be.

And if, by accident or purpose, should she once
forget this spell,

The arrow shall be broken; it shall return to me.

She knew not of the magic spell, but the Pi Phi's

As the land is, so the sons, the men of Sigma Rho exclaim.

From deserts flanking Vegas to the Ruby's sun-set flame,

From the copper pits of Ely to the streets of Alamo,

Comes the pride of all Nevada to the ranks of Sigma Rho.

As the land is, so the sons, and here's the land those words recall,

As it all comes back to me, accompanied by a coyote call:

Now on earth there is no colder, and the Congo's not the hotter;

Fifty are the miles from wood, forty are the miles from water;

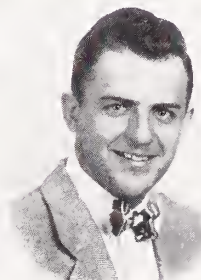

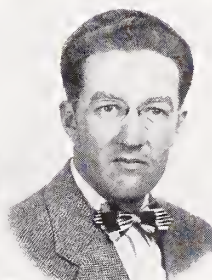

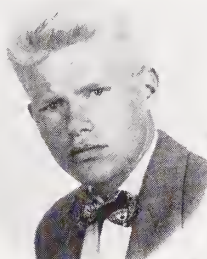

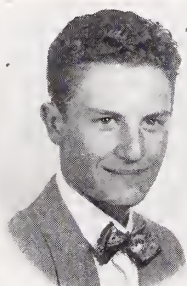

Miles remain uncounted as to where the nearest neighbors dwell;

But the front door's always open, and it's a mere ten feet from hell.

Music needs my helping hand,
Said a Sigma Pi one day.
So he struck a mighty discord and he began to play.

Quoth a Sigma Pi with zest,
Painting needs a magic touch.
So he took a brush, and painting fell into his clutch.

Some say music's gone astray;
Some say art is doomed to die;

INDEPENDENTS

We are the very models of the model modern student;
 We talk in ancient Sanskrit and we think in Hindustani;
 We write in ancient Berber and our words are very prudent;
 We sing in ancient Rhenish and we think in old Irani;
 We fight with deep and burning passion the Second Punic War;
 We quaff our cups 'mid "Skoals!" and shouts for men who sailed a wicked sea;
 The day that Alexander died beside the Indus we deplore;
 We are the Independents; we're as modern as can be.

BOARD OF ATHLETIC CONTROL

The Board of Athletic Control was established in 1939 for the purpose of approving all budgets and schedules of athletic contests and setting the athletic policy of the University of Nevada. Chairman of the Board this year was Harry Frost, who did an excellent job in this capacity the previous year. The Faculty was represented on the Board by Dr. Beesley and Dr. Deming. Other campus representatives were: Rex Jemison, A. S. U. N. president; Carl Robinson, Block "N" representative; Joe Sheeketski, Athletic Director. Gene Mastroianni, Graduate Manager, served as secretary.

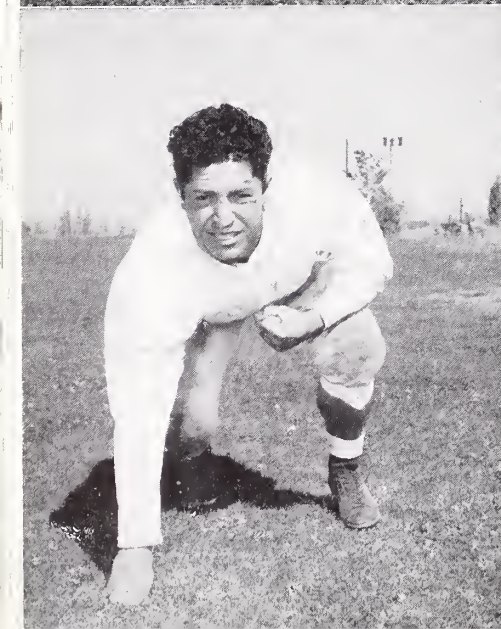

Standing: Harry Frost, Gene Mastroianni, Dr. E. M. Beesley.
Seated: Rex Jemison, Carl Robinson, Dr. M. Deming.

Traveling nearly 4,000 miles, and culminating the season by fighting five nights in ten days, three of the days in succession and the last two engagements being tournament battles, the Nevadans gained experience necessary for a banner year in 1950. Actually the Nevada fighters won more bouts than they dropped, but lack of entrants in some of the lower weight divisions caused frequent forfeitures. Harry Williams capably managed the team.

GOLF

Unable to secure a coach, the Nevada Golf Team opened practice on their own. Big things were expected with the return of lettermen Stan Kosakowski, Chuck Mayo and John Holloway, and the addition of Wayne Adams, two-time State Amateur champion. Due to the bad weather conditions the golf team got off to a slow start, but after the second meet Dick Evans, varsity end coach, was named coach, and the team began to pick up steam. The "par-shooters" lost a close match to San Francisco State, and were badly beaten by St. Mary's. At the Northern California Intercollegiate championships the farthest any Nevadan moved was to the semi-finals. In the team play Nevada wound up in fourth spot. Other members of the team were Earle Charlton, Sinclair Melner and Chuck Sansic.

RIFLERY

Nevada's Rifle Team this year completed one of its most active seasons. Besides competing with 80 schools in the National Postal Matches, the team competed in three local shoulder to shoulder meets in addition to the annual National Intercollegiate championships. In the Postal Matches, targets are fired on the Nevada range and the score sent to the schools with which Nevada is competing, and the other schools do the same. This year Nevada scored victories over such nationally known teams as Northwestern, Penn State, Cornell, Columbia, Merchant Marine Academy and U. C. L. A. The first shoulder to shoulder match was held on the University range on March 11, 1949. The University team took an easy 38-point win over the Reno Rifle Club and the Sparks Eagles Rifle Club. On April 9 a team of six men made the trip to Berkeley, Calif., to fire in the annual National Matches. The team members were Tom Macaulay, Jack Means, Gay Woo, Jay Atwood, George Becker and George Magee. The final match of the year was fired on the University range on April 30, when a seven-man team from U. S. F. traveled to Reno.

DEBATE

The Debate Team of the University of Nevada had a very unsuccessful season this year. Potentially the team could have been the best on the coast, but interfering circumstances prevented this. The team went to Seattle, College of the Pacific, Redlands University, and the Pacific Forensic League. Among some of the participants were Russ Maynard, Rudy Gerkin, Bonnie Yturbide, Rex Jemison, Mary Haslem, Fay Fryberger, Ralph Brown, Wayne Lewis, and Ray Free. Captain of the debate squad was Scott Whitney.

DRAMATICS

The dramatically minded students at the University of Nevada, under the direction of William C. Miller, spent an active year amid their grease-pots and make-up kits. Late in the fall they presented "The Meteor" by S. W. Behrans, starring Rex Jemison, Jane Baty, Barney Childs, Norma Carruth, Mark Bray, Lorne Black, George Bennett, Drake Delanoy, and Jerry Wyness. Highlight of the entire year, however, was the presentation of the "Psychoscope" by Daggett and Goodman of the old "Territorial Enterprise" of Virginia City. Only one copy of this swashbuckling play of the early days on the Comstock is in existence. A large and well-trained cast recaptured the atmosphere of the roaring West, very appropriately, during the final days of the Mackay Day weekend.

SAGEBRUSH

A vigorous editorial policy combined with a new streamlined organization rocketed the 1948-49 Sagebrush beyond its pre-war level. Under the competent direction of Editor Jon Milburn the "Brush" assumed leadership with the first issue, and through its courageous stands in the interests of the students, earned an undisputed right to that position. More than once during the year its editors walked on thin ice in an unselfish effort to protect the principles of Nevada. 1948-49 saw modern techniques in make-up applied to the Sagebrush which resulted in a more lively and easy to read presentation of the news. And, attempts were made to supply a greater cross-section of material to the reader with emphasis on the academic rather than social.

SAGEBRUSH

Operating under the handicap of a small staff, Business Manager Coe Swobe proved himself a capable executive and a ready worker. In the face of rising costs of printing and increasing difficulties in obtaining and holding advertisers, Coe managed to keep the "Brush" well out of the red. With the diligent assistance of Dee Spradling, office manager, the billing and book-keeping of the business side was kept up-to-date throughout the year. Although the circulation staff of the brush experienced problems not previously encountered, Circulation Manager Richard Lenzora, through continuous efforts, brought the circulation system much nearer perfection.

BLOCK "N"

The Block N, under the direction of Dick Trachok, for the first time selected the All-State and All-Conference High School Basketball teams this year. As in previous years, they supervised the painting of the Peavine Block N in both the fall and spring semesters. They sponsored the Western Conference and State High School Track Meets, held on Mackay Field. Lettermen in football, basketball, track, and skiing are eligible for membership in Block N. Other officers for the year were: Carl Robinson, vice-president; and Tom Bell, secretary-treasurer.

BLUE KEY

The Blue Key offers membership to upper-class men who have distinguished themselves in leadership and have taken a special interest in the sponsoring of school affairs. It is a national honorary organization formed for the service of the various colleges and universities throughout the country. Every year the Blue Key sponsors the Student Directory, fosters campus traditions and promotes school spirit as a whole. The president this year was Wallace Green.

CAP AND SCROLL

Cap and Scroll, which was founded almost twenty-five years ago, is the highest women's honorary organization on the campus. Its purpose is to develop high ideals for the women of the University of Nevada by combining the women leaders of the Senior class in one organization. Members are selected every spring from the upper ten per cent of the Senior Class who are the leaders in student life and organizations. To be eligible for membership the students are required to participate in at least three activities on the campus. One of the club's projects is to give aid to the other women's organizations when they request it. Althea Benedict served as President during the last year.

CHI DELTA PHI

NORMA CARRUTH, President

To encourage creative writing, Chi Delta Phi, national gibirart English society for women, conducted a state-wide poetry and short story contest for Nevada high school students this year. The contest was one of the many interesting activities of the group which included a series of talks by authorities on the various aspects of literature. The organization, formed to uphold the highest ideals of literary education, held regular social meetings under the leadership of Norma Carruth, its president.

COFFIN AND KEYS

Tops among Nevada's honor societies is Coffin and Keys. Membership in this secret, ultra-exclusive group is a sure sign that a man has arrived in his particular field of campus activity. Its annual spring show, is the only public appearance of the group, its other activities being veiled to secrecy. The campus is never unaware of the influence of the group in student affairs. Only visual reminders of its existence to other students are mysterious coffin-shaped notices on the bulletin board, small membership pins, and the annual spring outing. Ty Short presided over the group for the year.

SUNDOWNERS

MIKE GALLI, President

The "good fellowship" group of the University of Nevada, whose aim is to bring about a closer spirit of cooperation among the organizations on the hill, was instituted October 19, 1921. Pledging to the Sundowners was one of the highlights of the Mackay Day celebrations. There were only two officers in this organization, the President and the Secretary. These two offices were filled this year by Mike Galli and Joel Morris respectively.

PRESS CLUB

Highlight of the year for members of the University of Nevada Press was the presentation of a plaque in honor of Graham Sanford, former editor of the Reno Evening Gazette. The group chairmanned the judging of high school papers and yearbooks. The judging, reactivated last year, attempts to elevate the standards of high school journalism throughout the state. Membership in the Press Club is open to advanced students in journalism and to those who have been active on either of the campus publications for two years.

SAGERS

The University of Nevada Sagers, an under-class work organization, promotes student activities throughout the year. During the past year the Sagers have helped prepare for home football games, played an important role in pep rallies, and cooperated in the Homecoming and Hello on the Hill celebrations. The members of the group are drawn from representatives of the social fraternities. All members of Sagers have completed at least fifteen hours of work as tryees.

SCOTTY MULERT, President

SCABBARD AND BLADE

The major aim of Scabbard and Blade, national honor society for advanced R.O.T.C. cadets on the campus, "is to prepare educated men to take a more active part in the communities in which they live". The organization which has been active on the campus for three years sponsored their annual military ball, held at the Mapes Hotel, March 12. Officers of the 24 member group are: James O. Parker, captain; Lorne Black, first lieutenant; Edward R. Therkelsen, second lieutenant; and Dale Hanna, first sergeant.

JAMES PARKER, President

SIGMA DELTA CHI

Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary journalism society for men, began its existence only a year ago. During its first year on campus Brunson Harris acted as President, and was assisted by Roger Brander, Vice-President; Peter Mygatt, Secretary; and Harold Hayes, Treasurer. This year the group solicited ads for the "Alumnus" magazine, also supplied copy for it, and took over the business and editorial staffs for the Mackay Day edition of the Sagebrush.

BRUNSON HARRIS, President

ORGANIZATIONS

AGGIE CLUB

The Aggie Club, with Eyer Bois as president, continued its fine work this year in fostering a closer relationship between agriculture students at the University of Nevada. Two picnics were held during the year for the members. An excellent horse show was also held late in autumn, the money of which will be used to send members of the club on judging trips at other shows next year.

WARREN WELSH, President

ARTEMESIA HALL

Artemisia and Manzanita Halls had always been one organization, but this year they split up into two groups. Artemisia Hall's President was Marjorie Friend. They held two successful dances, a Christmas formal and a Spring formal. They also held socials for all entering students in their "Y" room at the beginning of each semester. Their new house mother is Mrs. Drew.

MARGE FRIEND, President

First row: Betty Tarrah, Mary Engle, Susan Wastun, Joy Wells, Juanita Rector, Edith McDonald, Margaret Hansen, Cheryl Simons. Second row: Verna Strange, Mary Etcheverry, Margaret Walker, Barbara McDermont, Anna Mae Oliver, La Verne Crossen, Mae Gregory, Shirley Hodge, Shirley Switzler. Third row: Barbara Laslo, Betty Priest, Lovanna Tietje, Betty Dodge, Claire Russell, Barbara Russell, Mary Lou Kent, Shirley Lundergreen, Marion Sharp. Left to right: James Helmick, Robert Bryant, James Chester, Alberto Barrios, George Newell.

ASSOCIATED ENGINEERS

JAMES HELMICK, President

This year the Associated Engineers were headed by President James Helmick, and the Executive Council, composed of the presidents of the four engineering societies. The Council included: George Newell, Mechanical Engineers; James Chester, Electrical Engineers; Al Barrios, Mining Engineers, and Bob Bryant, Civil Engineers. The Council served as the governing body for Engineers' Day, and also brought the names on Engineer Bench up to date.

GWEN BYRD, President

The Corps of Sponsors, one of the outstanding service organizations on the Hill, sold programs and ushered at the football and basketball games and the boxing matches. They took part in many projects, such as "Ducks Unlimited" and the "Splendora" program. Their function was drilling at football games and being the sponsors for the R. O. T. C. cadet officers. Gwen Byrd capably served as Lieutenant Colonel.

First row: Al Barrios, Joel Morris, Gerald Knowles, Director Carpenter, Bill Williams, Professor Smyth, Professor Couch, Bob Horton, Professor W. Palmer. CRUCIBLE CLUB

Founded at the University of Nevada in 1901, the Crucible Club is affiliated with the American Institute of Mining Engineers. It is made up of students in mining, metallurgy and geology. The club's aim is to promote the study of mining-metallurgy, geology and mineralogy by providing extra-curricular and social activities for students in these related fields. The club also provided trips on which the students observed the practical side of the mining industry. The president of the club this year was Al Barrios.

AL BARRIOS, President

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

The Electrical Engineers on the Campus are actively organized in a student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. During the past year they operated a public address system that serves as the voice of the Campus. The numerous activities that they participated in included encouraging student engineers to become acquainted with practical engineers of today, and exhibiting in the events of Engineers' Day.

FINE ARTS

The Fine Arts group was originated with the purpose of promoting an appreciation of art on the University of Nevada Campus and among the townspeople. Working to fulfill that objective, this group of women students sponsored during the year a series of exhibits which included studies of ceramics, etchings, oils and water colors by local and out-of-state artists. At regular meetings the group was active in planning displays of art, listening to lectures on artistic values and developing publicity campaigns for its exhibits.

BONNY MOLIGNONI, President

HIGHLANDERS

A relatively new group to command recognition on the Campus is that of the Highlanders. Originally limited to veterans, it has since widened the scope of its activities so as to take part in all Campus traditions. In one of their meetings, a self-governing system was set up for the Highland Terrace dormitories. A dormitory official was elected for each dormitory who is responsible to the dorm master who was also elected.

PHI ALPHA THETA

Phi Alpha Theta is a national honorary society whose purpose is to encourage excellence in history study. Eligibility to join the organization requires twelve hours of history with a superior scholastic average. The group's activities centered about its monthly meetings, which featured speakers reporting on various countries from actual experience. A special project sent Orville Holderman, president of the society, to the biennial convention of the American History Association in Washington, D. C.

HOME ECONOMICS

Rejuvenation of the child development room was the large project of the Home Economics Club this year. Members busied themselves making toys and equipment that would be appealing and useful to children. This year for the first time round table discussions about different phases of home economics were held at each meeting. Besides planning and serving the Mackay Day luncheon, the group entered a float in the Homecoming parade, held a cake sale, and feted members of the Aggie Club at a Christmas party. Virginia Shaw served as president and Miss Mildred Swift was group adviser.

VIRGINIA SHAW, President

First row: Margaret Bassett, Althea Benedict, Meryde Brown, Lois Charlesworth, Alice Currie, Mary Getto. Second row: Barbara Horning, Jean Howard, Esther Jensen, Marjorie Kean, Joyce Ko, Joan Lundy. IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE

The Improvement Committee devoted most of its time and effort this year toward securing salary increases for the faculty of the University. Members of the committee toured the state, speaking before various civic organizations in an attempt to bring the salaries of the University staff up to the national minimum. Added to other campaigns for improvement on the campus, the committee managed to chalk up an impressive list of accomplishments.

DWIGHT PETERSON, President

MANZANITA HALL

Having split up with Artemisia Hall and formed its own organization under the leadership of President Mary Zorzakis, Manzanita Hall Association became very active on campus. They held several parties and also sponsored a formal dance in the spring. Also the group set up governing standards for Manzanita Hall, and enforced the rules that were laid down by these governing committees. In its first year of existence, Manzanita Hall Association definitely looked like it was here to stay.

MARY ZORZAKIS, President

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

This year the American Society of Mechanical Engineers played host to Mr. E. G. Bailey, National President of A. S. M. E., and also entertained seven other schools at the regional convention held on the Nevada campus, which was highlighted by the presentation of a paper by Daniel Illerich, a Nevada student. During the year a number of speakers were heard and movies of interest were shown. Many interesting models and exhibits were featured at Engineers' Day by the Mechanical Engineers to round out a highly successful and eventful year.

GEORGE NEWELL, President

First row: Jerome Kegel, Dale Kishpaugh, George Newell. Second row: Richard Hutton, James Helmick, Walter Wanke, Dan Illrich. Third row: Walter Long, Ashley Molk, Lester Brownell, James Sarder, Ralph Leupold. Fourth row: Lee Sutterquist, Harold Meyer, Robert Weber, Lou Nannini. Fifth row: Artson Hardison, Joseph Kinney, Prof. Van Dyke, Walter Johnson. Sixth row: John Spoon, Wallace Birdsall, John Boynton.

NEWMAN CLUB

Building a membership of around one hundred and fifty, the Newman Club exists for the spiritual welfare and guidance of Catholic students. With monthly meetings and weekly discussion groups, the club has been very active during the past year under the leadership of President T. P. Sullivan. Newman Hall at Twelfth and Virginia streets was completed late in May, and will serve as a meeting place and Catholic library for all members.

Orchesis, a woman's dance organization, is directed toward the study and execution of modernistic ballet and dance. Although no national association exists, there are several Orchesis groups on the West Coast which promote dancing competition. This year the group did not attend the symposium. Miss Briggs, faculty instructor, was the new adviser for the group. An active program during the past year included dancing demonstrations at various service clubs and campus functions. Officers during the past year were Alice Pettis, president during fall semester, and Kay Brennan, president during the spring semester.

ALICE PETTIS, President

GWEN BYRD, President

PEMs, the organization for women majoring and minoring in physical education, grew by leaps and bounds this year with many new members joining the ranks. Highlight of the organization's activities was a Play Day held for state high school girls on April 30. To promote the status of Nevada in women's physical education, many PEM members, accompanied by Miss Margie Price, the adviser, attended the Southwest District Conference in Phoenix, Arizona, during the first week in May.

POLKATEERS

Only one and a half years old, the University of Nevada Polkateers is one of the campus's most active organizations. Meetings are given over entirely to the dancing of folk songs from the United States and foreign countries. The Polkateers danced demonstrations for several local Reno organizations this year and although the group is officially limited to 40 members, participants are welcome and if the quota is not filled may join by attending a Polkateer meeting twice.

RIFLE CLUB

Organized in 1921 and disbanded at the beginning of the war, the Rifle Club was re-activated in March, 1946, by Colonel Gilbert Parker. The University club had a very successful season this year, winning the "A" league championship, the only shoulder-to-shoulder match participated in. Facing such highly-rated opponents as the Universities of Maine, Massachusetts, Columbia, and the Merchant Marine Academy, the University Rifle Club, under the leadership of President Tom Macaulay, won better than 50 per cent of its postal matches.

TOM MACAULAY, President

Front row: Dick Wright, Gay Woo, Tom Macaulay, Lucille Smith, Ken Rice, Ed Callahan, Jay Atwood. Middle row: Sergeant Earl Grady, Jack Hull, Betty Ann Rice, Connie Madsen, Gertrude Sanford, Marilyn MacDonald, Maureen Magee, Lowell Miller, Jimmie Etcheto. Back row: George Magee, Sergeant Robert Garnett, Tom Oki, Knight Beauchamp, George Sadler, Wayne Ashley, James Lee.

First row: Sue Broadbent, Joan Calder, Geneve Conoway, La Verne Crossen, Margaret Fairchild, Pat Fee. UNIVERSITY SINGERS

BARNEY CHILDS, President

The University Singers, under the direction of Professor Theodore Post, enjoyed a busy year. The club is a mixed chorus of sixty members chosen for their singing and musical ability. They presented many outstanding performances, including spring and fall concerts, the Christmas "Messiah," a Wolves Frolic number and a spring operetta. The officers of the University Singers were Barney Childs, president; Joyce McElwain, vice-president, and Jean Nash, secretary-treasurer.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

The Wesley Foundation Fireside Club is a campus organization for Methodist preference students which coordinates religion with social and cultural activities. During the year they sponsored a convention at Asilomar, a spring and fall retreat at Lake Tahoe, and numerous discussion groups, picnics, dances and parties. Wesley Foundation is under the advice and guidance of Lew Hilbert with the assistance of the president, Al McFadden.

AL McFADDEN, President

Y. W. C. A.

The aim of the Young Women's Christian Association was to maintain high standards in all student relations, to provide helpfulness and pleasure, and to promote Christian ideals. In an effort to fulfill these aims, the Y. W. C. A. was busy throughout the year controlling concessions at football games, maintaining the Snack Bar, participating in the World Students' Service Fund and the Community Chest drive on the campus. Mary Lou Sewell served as president; assisted by Joylin Johnson, vice-president, and Edith Moore, secretary-treasurer.

SWAN SONG

Here lies the noble bow-tie . . . After many varied cryptic comments on the subject of having their pictures taken in bow-ties, the stalwart men of the U. of N. (poetry, yet) trouped bravely to the photographer's to pose—still hesitantly—they waited. In the cases of many of these brave gentlemen (to use the term loosely) a tie of any type was a catastrophe to be avoided. The proofs were made, opinions taken, and the results released for public acclaim. And so, in the above picture you see what happened to our noble bow-tie after we cleaned up our office. Yet we felt that this added color and distinction to the book. But without the help of the following people we could not have made the 1949 ARTEMISIA a success:

The Advertisers, for their financial backing.

Ralph Marks of The Camera.

Bill Shipaugh and Harry Frost of Reno Printing Co.

Verne Lane of Nevada Engravers.

S. K. Smith Cover Co.

Lew Hymers.

Craig Sheppard and the University Art Department.

Walter States for the use of his dog in the above picture.

The students, for their assistance on both the editorial and business staffs. It has really been fun and a great pleasure to put out the 1949 ARTEMISIA.

SINCLAIR MELNER, Editor
BOB KENT, Business Manager
